University of Alberta

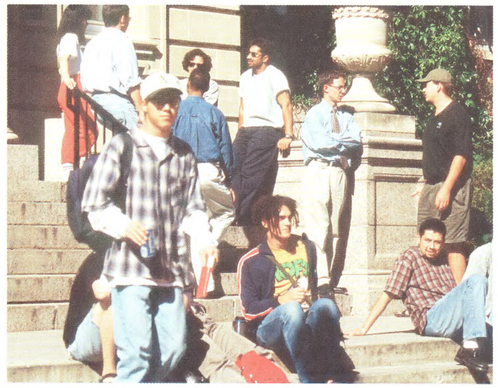
Where the World Meets ..... is at the University of Alberta in Edmonton.... particularly this summer when thousands of world-class athletes, coaches, trainers, dignitaries and visitors will converge on the city and campus for the 2001 World Championships in Athletics, August 3-12. The championships are the third largest sporting event in the world next to World Cup soccer and the summer Olympics.

The University of Alberta (UofA) is one of Canada's largest research-intensive universities serving more than 30,000 students with some 7,000 faculty and staff.



Students lounge outside the historic Arts Building

We have a simple objective here at the UofA – to be indisputably recognized in teaching, research and community service, nationally and internationally, as one of Canada's finest universities and amongst a handful of the world's best.

And we are well on our way to achieving this goal.

We captured the world's attention when we announced that our researchers had successfully used a UofA developed treatment to free diabetes patients from insulin by transplanting donor-pancreatic cells into eight people. Since the transplants several years ago, none of the patients has needed insulin injections and they no longer need to monitor their diet. Known as the "Edmonton Protocol", cautious optimism exists that this is a major breakthrough in the treatment of the most severe form of diabetes.

UofA professors also excel in the classroom as well as the laboratory. We continue to have the most 3M Teaching Fellows

Aerial view of the U of A campus situated on the south bank of the North Saskatchewan River – the city skyline provides the backdrop

- Canada's only national award recognizing excellence in undergraduate teaching.

Our athletes dominate the national varsity sport scene and we lead the nation with the most Academic All-Canadians – students who successfully combine academic and athletic excellence.

Our researchers have the distinction of participating in all the federal Networks of Centres of Excellence – centres for university/industry/government research collaboration and partnerships. We're also headquarters for two of these Network Centres - Protein Engineering and Sustainable Forest Management.

The UofA ranks among the top five Canadian universities in total research funding from the three federal granting councils. Since 1988-89, we have received more than $1 billion from external sources for research and our new target is a cumulative total of $2 billion by 2005.

Students stroll through the park-like campus

Enjoy your visit to our park-like campus – taste the foods of the world in our many eateries in SUB and HUB International; browse in our renowned Fine Arts Gallery; take a contemplative stroll through our Kurimoto Japanese Garden (North America's northern most Japanese garden) at the Devonian Botanic Garden; or utilize our world-class physical education facilities in the Universiade Pavilion or Van Vliet Centre.
